

James Hanson

Q) What years were you at Titus Salt? 2002-2009.

Q) Which A Levels did you do?

Mathematics, Further Mathematics, Economics, English, plus ICT AS Level.

Q) What are you doing now?

I work for Capgemini Consulting. Recently, I have been heading up a project team of seven analysts at a global consumer goods firm, helping them to use data – from social media to the weather – to make better business decisions.

Q) Did you do any Further/Higher Education/Apprenticeship courses?

I did my A Levels at TSS, then an Economics degree at the London School of Economics.

Q) Any advice for our current students?

Hard work pays off, so whether it's an apprenticeship, university or employment you choose to pursue, work hard.

Summer 2016