

Jill Worsley

Q) What did you study at TSS?

I took A Level English Literature, Media Studies, Psychology and General Studies in the 1990s.

Q) What are you doing now?

I make television documentaries and factual entertainment. I recently spent a month filming Paul O'Grady in Africa and meeting orphaned baby animals, definitely a career highlight!

Q) What did you study after TSS?

I completed a Psychology degree at Leeds University and then a Masters in Communication Studies.

Q) Have you a piece of advice for our current students?

Don't just follow the crowd! Remember that school is only the beginning and the more you achieve at school the better your options will be.
